

Sustainable Future Shares.

Issue Date: 1 October 2018

Media Super's Sustainable Future Shares option provides a high-growth-oriented investment strategy predominantly invested in Socially Responsible Australian shares.

IMPORTANT: You should read the PDS applicable to you which contains further information about investing in Media Super (including about the Sustainable Future Shares option, the other investment options available and the risks of super) and other important information before making a decision about Media Super.

This option was introduced on 1 August 2005 and differs from our other investment options, as when deciding which companies to invest in, labour standards and environmental, social and governance (ESG) issues are considered by the investment managers appointed by the Trustee to manage this option.

Key underlying managers are reviewed at least semi-annually by Media Super (or its consultants) for adherence to the criteria and methodology.

Media Super appoints investment managers to achieve the investment objectives, whilst also considering the ESG issues mentioned above. These considerations are not applied to the Cash segment of the option, only to Australian Shares (Equity Australian Domicile Listed).

The managers appointed may vary from time to time, and there is currently one investment manager engaged to undertake socially responsible investing. We may change the appointment of investment managers at any time, without prior notification to members.

The appointed manager uses a screening process to identify companies with a 'sustainable' approach to the production of goods or services. The sustainability criteria employed includes areas such as environmental issues, employment practices, corporate governance, and ethics.

We have also included a requirement that all companies that source more than 20% of their operational revenue from coal, oil and gas and/or any mining company that derives more than 20% of their energy consumption from coal, oil and gas are excluded from the Manager's investment universe.

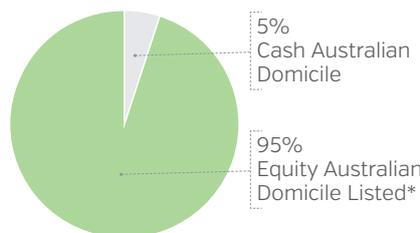

Additional managers have been appointed to manage assets for the Cash segment.

Past performance is not an indicator of future performance. You should also expect the returns on each of your investment options to vary over time due to fluctuations in the value of investments within each investment option. These returns are net of investment fees and the indirect cost ratio only and do not reflect the administration fees.

The criteria and methodology detailed below are those of the investment manager¹ and not Media Super.

Australian Shares

The Australian Shares segment of the Sustainable Future Shares investment option is currently managed by one investment manager. The manager has a mandate to take labour standards or environmental, social or ethical considerations into account when selecting, retaining and realising investments, as detailed below. Note that from time to time the Manager may alter its methodology or criteria.

Methodology²

How the manager selects the companies that they invest in for the Australian Shares segment is as follows:

Best of sector

The manager invests in the shares of Australian companies that have been suitably ranked against a list of environmental and social criteria (see list at right).

Companies within each industry sector of the S&P/ASX200 are researched.

The manager assigns:

1. an environmental and social ranking, and
2. a financial ranking, to each company researched.

These rankings are taken into account when the manager invests, using a 'best of sector' basis.

This approach means that companies with higher rankings within the individual sectors are favoured.

Assessment criteria

The criteria that the manager employs to select companies to invest in for the Australian Shares segment include:

- > The Fund is excluded from investing in all companies that source more than 20% of their operational revenue from coal, oil and/or gas. This includes exploration, production, mining or transportation of coal, oil and gas; and contracting or supplying to companies involved in the exploration, production, mining or transportation of coal, oil and gas.
- > Environmental management including best-practice environmental techniques, environmental performance monitoring, and consultative processes to reduce the significant impact that some activities may have on the environment.
- > Business ethics and conduct, including incorporation of codes of conduct into a business, regular and appropriate training, whistleblower policies, and ethical conduct of employees, officers and engagement of community stakeholders.
- > Human capital management, including equal opportunity and anti-discrimination policies, staff incentives, employee and industrial relations policies. Also development and training of staff benefits, and human capital management performance.
- > Workplace health and safety, including health and safety practices, management of contractors and suppliers, regular and appropriate training, and workplace health and safety performance.

1. If an investment no longer matches the stated investment policy, then each approach is determined on a case-by-case basis and there is no fixed timeframe for this process.
2. Our appointed Manager monitors the portfolio on a monthly basis for adherence to criteria and methodology.
